JESUS IS HOPE!

Bringing love and hope along with life essentials relief! Wings As Eagles Ministries continues to help our native brother and sisters, walking in faith. Thank you for allowing the opportunities.

Wings As Eagles Ministries is in their 31st year! God is good! The smiles of the children show evidence of the Joy and Love your donations provide. We pray for you all every day!

PRAYERS PLEASE:

Gary and Lori are regaining their physical strength and power of might in the Lord, we ask for continued prayers for both. Pray for health, and personal finances, and due to extremely high health bills from six surgeries between them, it is currently a difficult season for them. But they are not deterred from the Lord's work. Let's stand in agreement that the amount will be met, by the only one who can, JESUS. Thank you so much.

HEART NOTES

In different seasons of life, the Lord will give us a new purpose, and new beginnings, over and over again because life requires change. After seeking, praying, crying out to our God the focus became clearer. He loves us, us, first and foremost. He loves me, He loves me first before anything I could ever do for others. I had to know that. My mind was all over the place, regrets, anger, why? Why? was always my question. Why did my body fail me? Why now? One thing then another had me believing the Lord was finished with me. Early in the ministry when I first began, I had so many of the same doubts, regrets, and mostly fear. Every time I made a mistake I thought He was done with me. My life was changing back then from the life I knew before Jesus. Just as it is changing now. A little stronger mentally, and spiritually with more wisdom than my early years, that's for sure! Do I accept the change? Not really, but then I fought the change the first time too. I laid it down then as I do now and say "Lord, even though again I don't like this new season, I trust you." ~~Lori
